

Matthew Rubins of M/C Venture Partners to Participate in “IPO Drought” Panel at Mobile Internet World

Details

Who: Matthew J. Rubins, General Partner at M/C Venture Partners, will participate in a panel with Chris Pasko, Blackstone Group; Joseph Sanborn, Rutberg & Company; and Chris Farmer, Bessemer Venture Partners; moderated by Emily Nagle Green, CEO, Yankee Group

What: “Monetizing Value during an IPO Drought” panel in the Mobile Internet World Venture Forum Track, sponsored by the New England Venture Capital Association, at Mobile Internet World.

Many wireless companies started three to five years ago have founders and investors anxious for an exit. With the IPO market remaining relatively closed, Matt Rubins and his fellow panelists will discuss strategies you can employ to create value for your company to an interested strategic investor or other suitor and whether there are any conditions under which the IPO window can open for your company.

Where: Boston Convention and Exhibition Center
Boston, MA

When: Thursday, October 23, 2008 from 4:00 PM to 5:00 PM
